Preparedness Resources

FEMA offers the following preparedness resources for individuals and communities. Additional materials are available for free at www.ready.gov.

Family Emergency Communication Plan

Communication networks, such as mobile phones and computers, could be unreliable during disasters, and electricity could be disrupted. Planning in advance will help ensure that all the members of your household—including children and people with disabilities and others with access and functional needs, as well as outside caregivers—know how to reach each other and where to meet up in an emergency. Follow the Family Emergency Communication Plan to create a plan today. (<https://www.ready.gov/sites/default/files/2021-02/family-emergency-communication-plan.pdf>)

FEMA Emergency Supply Checklist

After an emergency, you may need to survive on your own for several days. Being prepared means having your own food, water, and other supplies to last for several days. This disaster supply kit is a collection of basic items your household may need in the event of an emergency. (https://www.ready.gov/sites/default/files/2021-02/ready_checklist.pdf)

Emergency Financial First Aid Kit (EFFAK)

The Emergency Financial First Aid Kit (EFFAK) a joint publication from Operation Hope and FEMA, can help you prepare financially and provides tips to reduce the financial impact of disasters on you and your family. The manual offers guidance on organizing and securing important documents as well as provides important advice on managing finances, offers insights on dealing with credit scores, and describes what to expect should a disaster strike your community. Until Help Arrives (UHA)

Life-threatening emergencies can happen fast, and emergency responders aren't always nearby. You may be able to save a life by taking simple actions immediately. FEMA's You Are the Help Until Help Arrives (Until Help Arrives) provides tools to educate and empower the public to act in an emergency situation before professional help arrives by taking five Until Help Arrives key actions. The Until Help Arrives program teaches basic skills to help keep people alive and safe until professional help arrives. (<https://community.fema.gov/until-help-arrives>)

Community Emergency Response Team (CERT)

The Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) program educates volunteers about disaster preparedness for the hazards that may impact their area and trains them in basic disaster response skills, such as fire safety, light search and rescue, team organization, and disaster medical operations. CERT offers a consistent, nationwide approach to volunteer training and organization that professional responders can rely on during disaster situations, allowing them to focus on more complex tasks. (<https://www.ready.gov/cert>)

Organizations Preparing for Emergency Needs (OPEN)

The OPEN training provides an overview of the 10 preparedness actions and creates a path forward for organizations to develop their own disaster response plan. OPEN includes both a web-based, self-guided training, and a downloadable instructor kit that will guide participants on how to identify risks, locate resources, and take preparedness actions. When Community-Based Organizations, such as food pantries, daycares, and non-profits, are unable to sustain operations during an emergency incident, individuals who rely on them are exponentially impacted. Because of their importance in keeping the community going, OPEN is designed to empower these organizations to better prepare for incidents. (<https://community.fema.gov/opentraining>)

Student Tools for Emergency Planning (STEP)

Student Tools for Emergency Planning (STEP) is a classroom based, emergency preparedness curriculum for fourth and fifth graders designed in an easy, ready-to-teach format. Students will learn about disasters, emergencies, and hazards, and how to create a disaster supply kit and family emergency communication plan. Visit the STEP website for more information: (<https://www.ready.gov/kids/student-tools-emergency-planning-step>)
